A private college education is worth considering—and we have the numbers to prove it. But there's one number that matters most of all: more than 100 colleges and universities, small and large, specialized and wide-ranging, upstate and midtown. All different, but all with one important thing in common: any one of them is an investment that will pay off for a lifetime.

Your journey is just beginning.

New York's private colleges and universities are so different in so many ways. But there are a few shared elements you'll find at all of them: generous financial aid, small class sizes, personal attention, distinguished faculty, unparalleled experiential learning opportunities, strong global alumni networks, and unmatched support services to help you finish your degree on time.

In this book, you'll find tips to help you make the most of your college search, and an overview of each of the 100+ private colleges and universities in New York.

If you know what you're looking for, search through this book to find colleges by major (pages 34–54) or geographic location (pages 56–59), then learn more about them in their campus profiles (pages 6–29). For information on paying for college, check out pages 60–66.

If you don't know where to start, that's okay, too—in fact, it's perfectly understandable. Fill out the worksheet on page 7, and talk through your choices with your school counselor, college advisor, parent, or guardian.

Beyond this book, there are other ways to explore your options and stay on track:

- Attend college fairs to pick up brochures and talk to admissions representatives.
- Visit colleges that interest you, take the official tour, talk to students to get a taste of the authentic experience, and make an appointment to meet faculty who teach subjects that you're drawn to.
- Understand your financial aid options. See pages 60–66 of this book to get started.
- Make a short list of eight or nine colleges that interest you, and see if you can talk to current students or graduates.
- Create a calendar to help you remember the admission and financial aid deadlines for each college you're applying for.

What you should consider when choosing a college...

Every private college is unique, with its own culture, campus environment, and academic focus. They represent a broad spectrum of opportunities, and an almost limitless number of programs of study to choose from. With so many options, there's a lot to consider.

First, consider the academic and campus experience.

- Academic departments: Do they have what you're looking for in an area of study?
- Class size: Do you prefer large lecture halls or smaller, intimate groups?
- Student-to-faculty ratios: Do you want close relationships with your professors?
- Faculty: are they experts in their field? Do they focus on teaching, or do they focus on research?
- Out-of-classroom opportunities: How soon—and how often—will you be able to dig into real-world work like research, internships, or study abroad programs?
- A STEM-focused education: Do you want to focus on science, technology, engineering, and/or math?
- A holistic education: Do you want an education that incorporates critical thinking and emphasizes developing well-rounded skills?
- Internship and career placement services: How invested will this college be in helping you secure an internship or a career?
- Campus setting and surrounding area: Do you want quiet and remote, a quintessential college town, or a bustling urban setting?
- Campus life, residence halls, dining plans: You'll make this place your home for the next few years. Are the physical spaces and the culture of the campus things that you'll be able to live with?

And, of course, consider the value.

New York's private colleges and universities are known for dedicated, world-class faculty; low student-faculty ratios; and immersive, experiential study. These things sometimes cost money—but not as much as you might think. Don't write off a college due to the published tuition price, because it's probably not what you'll pay. Private colleges help families meet college costs through grants, scholarships, and other aid.

of full-time undergraduate students at private colleges receive at least one type of financial aid.

That's the amount of published tuition and fees at private four-year institutions that students paid in 2016–17, on average. The rest was covered by grant aid and federal education tax benefits.

...and what college admissions will consider when they're choosing you.

While you're evaluating your best-fit colleges, they're evaluating you, too. Here are some things colleges may consider as they're weighing their decision:

- Academic preparation: Are you ready for the next level of your academic journey, and are you a strong candidate to be successful at this college?
- Challenging coursework: Have you pushed yourself academically, taking AP classes and a more advanced curriculum?
- Good grades in a range of courses: Do you excel across the board, earning high marks in a diverse array of classes?
- Recommendations from teachers and mentors: The adults in your life will need to share their insights about the work you've done so far and the potential they see in you.
- Written self-expression: Is your essay or writing sample articulate, compelling, and engaging?
- Interest in and enthusiasm for the college: Do you have a strong passion for the college you're applying to?
- SAT and ACT scores: This is optional at many colleges, but if the one you're applying to requires it, how well did you score?
- Extracurricular activities: Commitment matters over quantity—did you serve in any leadership positions in your organization, or have a long track record of participation?
- Ranking among high school peers: How do you stack up among your classmates?
- Verbal expression and presentation: Are you confident, poised, and genuine in your meetings with representatives at the college?

POSSIBILITIES.

New York's network of private, not-for-profit colleges and universities is vast—and so are the opportunities they provide for extraordinary experiences, personal support, and fulfilling careers.

In this section, you'll find the need-to-know details for every college in that network. And if you see something that intrigues you, you'll have the information you need to take your search to the next level.

Of course, the best way to learn more about a college is to ask questions. So call, write, or email the campus admissions staff, and plan a visit if you can. Attend college fairs and leave your name with representatives from the colleges that interest you.

Note: The information listed in these profiles is intended as a set of general campus profiles. Always check with the campus directly to verify information.

What kinds of colleges are right for you?

When it comes to choosing a college, the options can be overwhelming. Don't know where to start? This is a good place.

Go through this worksheet with your counselor, parent, or guardian, and mark down the characteristics that appeal most to you. Take note of the icons beside your selections, and look for them throughout this guide as you browse your college options.

The Program

Associate

I'm interested in a two-year program that lets me focus on a particular area of study.

Bachelor's

I'm looking for a program that lets me focus on a major, but still gives me opportunities to learn things outside of my area of study.

Graduate

I want to continue my studies beyond my bachelor's degree, gaining knowledge that advances my expertise in my field.

First Professional

I'm interested in a degree that gives me immersive experiences and technical skills in a specialized area of practice like law, medicine, engineering, physical therapy and many others.

The Size

Small (fewer than 2,000 students)

I'm comfortable in a more intimate environment, seeing familiar faces and knowing almost everyone on campus.

Midsized (up to 5,000 students)

Somewhere in the middle. I like meeting a lot of new people, as long as there's a familiar face or two in the crowd.

Large (more than 5,000 students)

The more, the merrier. I'm not afraid of crowds—new faces, big classes, and unfamiliar territory are exciting to me.

The Environment

Urban

Bright lights, big city—here I come. I'll thrive in a walkable, metropolitan environment where I can explore new neighborhoods and be in the center of it all.

Suburban

I like a little more green space. I'm fine with a college that's somewhat off the beaten path, as long as there are restaurants, shops, and internship opportunities within driving distance.

Dural

I love the appeal of a quiet, secluded campus surrounded by nature. Hiking, stargazing, and studying under a tree: that's the college life I've always envisioned.

Interests and Aspirations

CAMPUS PROFILES

College Terminology

Annual College Costs - Includes tuition, fees, room, board, books, transportation, and personal expenses. These costs vary from college

Application Deadline - The date, set by college admissions offices, by which applications for admission must be received.

Associate – Degree awarded on completion of a two-year (usually) program of study.

Bachelor's (baccalaureate) - Degree awarded on completion of a four-year (usually) program of study.

Common Application – An application for admission accepted by more than 800 colleges. Check with the college.

Early Action – A non-binding early application process allowing students to learn the admission decision before the college's official notification date.

Early Decision – A binding early application process. Students are notified of acceptance and are expected to commit to enrollment before regular applicants.

Financial Aid – Aid to assist in meeting college costs that may be in the form of grants, scholarships, loans, or work-study. Always meet these application deadlines. See pages 60–66 for more information about financial aid.

First Professional – Study that culminates in a degree and license in a profession such as law, medicine, etc.

Graduate and Professional Study – Work toward a master's, doctorate, post-graduate certificate, or professional license.

Interview – A conversation with a college admission or faculty representative, or with alumni.

Master's and Doctorates – Advanced degrees awarded for completion of additional study beyond a bachelor's (four-year) degree.

Recommendation – A written assessment of the student's aptitudes, abilities, and interests written by a teacher, counselor, coach, etc.

Rolling Admission – An institution reviews applications as they are received and offers a decision to students as applications are reviewed.

Room and Board – College housing and meal plans (often several options are available).

SAT and ACT – Standardized tests that measure verbal and math proficiency, used by some colleges as a variable to predict the likelihood of a student's success at their college.

SAT Subject Tests – Subject-specific exams required for admission by many colleges [e.g., English (literature), U.S. History and World History, math (Level 1 or Level 2), science (Biology E/M, Chemistry, Physics), languages (Chinese, French, German, Modern Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Latin, Spanish)].

Undergraduate Study – Work toward a two-year (associate) or a fouror five-year (bachelor's) degree.

CAMPUS LOCATOR

From the sprawling Adirondack Mountains to the busy streets of New York City, this state boasts a diverse geographic landscape—and a diverse collection of private colleges, too.

Colleges are listed alphabetically in each region, with the city each college is located in underneath its name. Degrees offered appear in parentheses with bachelor's degrees indicated by (B) and associate degrees indicated by (A). Campuses that offer graduate degrees (master's, doctorate, or first professional) are indicated by (G). Each listing also includes the page number of the associated campus profile.

We've said it before, but it's worth repeating: the published cost isn't necessarily the actual cost you'll pay. So don't write off your dream college just because you think it might be too expensive—instead, apply to colleges that fit the criteria you're looking for (refer to that handy worksheet you filled out), and talk to admissions and financial aid counselors to get more information about available funding.

There are many options to make college more affordable, including:

- Grants and scholarships from colleges, and from federal and state government
- Job programs on or off campus
- Benefits offered by employers
- Competitive scholarships from civic and religious organizations
- Scholarships offered by professional organizations for study in specific academic subjects or toward certain professions
- Loans from the federal government
- Tax deductions or credits for eligible educational expenses

simple questions to make the most of your financial aid discussions

As you're discussing your options with college representatives, these are important questions to ask:

- Which forms are required to be considered for all forms of aid?
- What are your requirements for merit aid?* For need-based aid?†
- Will my financial aid be the same next year? How do I keep it? How do I renew it?
- What are the financial aid application deadlines?
- 3 Are there state aid programs I should know about?
- When will you notify me of my aid eligibility?
- How will outside scholarships affect my financial aid package?
- Are there special requirements, such as grades or course sequences, for keeping my grants and scholarships?
- Do you have a payment plan to pay tuition monthly?

^{*} Merit aid is money that is awarded by a college for a student's academic achievement or special talents or traits. It doesn't take into account a student's financial needs.

[†] Need-based aid is awarded solely on the basis of a student's financial need.

steps to conquering the financial aid process

A private college education is an investment in your future that will pay off for a lifetime. There are resources available to put tuition within your reach. To take full advantage of those resources, follow the steps below.

Step 1

Every college has different financial aid form requirements and deadlines. Check with each college's financial aid office or website to determine which forms need to be filed to be considered for all types of financial aid. Here are the most common ones:

Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) – Everyone applying for federal and most other financial aid must complete this free form, as early as possible. You and a parent, if you are their dependent, will each need to create an FSA ID to file the FAFSA.

Get more information and file online at fafsa.ed.gov.

NYS Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) Application –
For New York residents attending a college in the state, use this free form with the FAFSA to apply for a NYS TAP grant and to request payment of NYS scholarship awards. Complete the online TAP application by linking to it directly from your FAFSA Confirmation Page.

For more information, contact the NYS HESC (Higher Education Services Corporation) at hesc.ny.gov or call 888.NYSHESC.

 CSS PROFILE – Some colleges may ask applicants to file the CSS Financial Aid PROFILE® form to be considered for college-funded aid (the college's own grants and scholarships).

Visit cssprofile.collegeboard.org to file. There is a fee for filing this form.

 College-specific financial aid applications – Some colleges may ask prospective students to complete the college's own financial aid application to be considered for their college-funded grants, scholarships, and loans. Check with each college for application requirements and deadlines.

Step 2

Complete and file the FAFSA as soon as possible after October 1. For those applying to begin college in 2019–2020, use 2017 tax information. NYS residents applying to colleges in the state should include an NYS college on their FAFSA to begin the application for an NYS TAP grant.

By filing the FAFSA, you will be considered for:

- Grants and scholarships from private colleges and universities (though some colleges may require an additional form)
- Federal Pell Grant
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG)
- Federal Work-Study (FWS)
- Job programs from private colleges and universities
- · Federal Direct Loan
- · Federal TEACH Grant
- · Iraq and Afghanistan Service Grant

Visit studentaid.ed.gov for more information.

Did you know?

On average, students at private colleges in New York borrow just $3,400 more than students at public colleges in New York. That's the total difference for four years of college.

Source: The Institute for College Access & Success, four-year institutions, bachelor's degree recipients, federal and private loans

Focus on colleges' net price, not their sticker price. The net price is the total cost of tuition and fees minus any grants, scholarships, and education tax benefits you receive. It is the actual amount you will pay.

Step 3

After submitting the FAFSA online, you'll receive your Federal Student Aid Report (SAR) via email. Review the SAR and follow directions to correct any errors.

Step 4

Each college that accepts you for admission will send a financial aid award letter or "package." Each college's aid package may include a different combination of grants, scholarships, work-study, and loans to help meet college expenses. Compare each college's financial aid offer by determining the college's "net cost"—just subtract the amount of all grants, scholarships, and student loan funding from the published tuition, fees, room and board.

Step 5

Inform the college you've chosen to attend and formally accept the offer of admission and financial aid—usually, you'll have to do this by May 1.

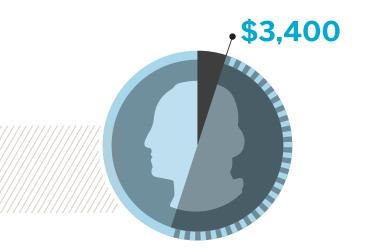

When reviewing the financial aid package from the college, be certain to pay attention to:

• Federal loans: The college will send instructions about the loan application process, which includes the completion of a form called the Master Promissory Note (MPN) and an entrance counseling session in order to receive federal student loans (e.g., Direct Loan). It is important to keep track of how much you are borrowing and the loan repayment terms and conditions.

See studentaid.ed.gov/sa/fafsa/next-steps/accept-aid/mpn

• If you're a New York resident attending college in the state, follow up on the NYS Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) grant.

Visit hesc.ny.gov to review and correct information as needed.

Step 6

Always keep in mind that financial aid isn't a one-time endeavor there are conditions to keeping it, like required grades and coursework. Make sure to renew your financial aid each year, on time, to avoid losing it.

provided in financial aid by New York's private colleges each year

Whatever your needs and no matter your financial situation, there are programs out there that can help you pay for college. You'll find a listing of some of the most important financial aid programs on the next few pages.

Grants and Scholarships*

Grants and scholarships are funds you do not have to repay. They are available from colleges, your state, the federal government, professional and service organizations, private foundations, and many employers. Some grants are based on your financial need, while others are awarded for academic merit, a specific career goal, a special talent, or group affiliation.

Grants and scholarships from NYS private colleges and universities: More than $5.7 billion is awarded each year. Check with each college's financial aid office to determine which forms you need to complete to be considered for all types of need-based and merit-based aid.

Federal Pell Grants at NYS private colleges and universities: A grant based on financial need with awards ranging up to $6,095 in 2018–19. To apply, file the FAFSA.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG): Awards based on need from $100 to $4,000 per year. To apply, file the FAFSA.

Federal Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH) Grant: Awards up to $4,000 per year to students who are completing or plan to complete coursework in teaching and intend to teach in a high-need school. There is a required service component.

Federal Iraq and Afghanistan Service Grant: Up to the maximum Pell Grant for eligible children of service members who died during service in Iraq or Afghanistan after 9/11. To apply, file the FAFSA.

Enhanced Tuition Awards: Enables eligible New York State residents attending participating private, not-for-profit colleges to receive up to $6,000 per year. Applications open during a limited time each year. Other requirements apply.

NYS Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) grants at private colleges and universities: Eligible students attending an NYS college full time may receive from $500 to $5,126 in 2018–19. To apply, file the FAFSA and TAP applications.

Part-Time TAP: Helps pay tuition for eligible students attending part time.

ADA Part-Time TAP: Students with a documentable disability may be eligible for ADA Part-Time Tuition Assistance Program (TAP). ADA Part-Time TAP allows students time to complete additional semesters in their college program while receiving TAP.

Scholarships from private sources: Grants and scholarships are available from many community organizations, businesses, corporations, unions, and churches. Check with your school counselor, public library, employer, chamber of commerce, union, church, community, and special interest organizations.

The Arthur O. Eve Higher Education Opportunity Program (HEOP): Provides academic support and financial assistance to young people who might not meet all the traditional college admissions criteria but who show promise of succeeding in college.

Did you know?

4 out of 10 private college students who borrow owe less than $10,000 when they graduate.

Work-Study*

Work-study programs provide opportunities to earn money while you're in college by working part time on campus or in the community.

Federal Work-Study Program (FWS): Provides jobs to undergraduate and graduate students with financial need. Students usually work 10 to 15 hours per week during the academic year. To apply, file the FAFSA.

Job programs from private colleges and universities: Check with the college's financial aid office for on-campus job availability. Community service jobs are also available for work-study students.

Student Loans*

Education loans for college costs may be available for you and/or your parents. This aid must be repaid, usually with interest. Some loans are based on financial need. Federal education loans often provide the lowest interest rates. These include federal Direct Subsidized and Direct Unsubsidized loans, federal Direct Parent PLUS loans, and federal PLUS loans. To apply for a federal student loan, file the FAFSA. For federal Parent PLUS loans, see the next page.

KEY MILESTONES

Wherever you are in the college search journey, use this guide to make sure you're on track. Missed some milestones? Don't panic. Talk to your counselor and see how you can catch up. It's never too late to find the right college.

IF YOU'RE A SOPHOMORE

In the Fall

- Meet with your school counselor early in the school year to make sure you're taking the right classes to graduate and be ready for college. Most colleges require a full sequence of courses in the major subject areas (English, math, science, etc.). Also, ask for help in developing a list of colleges based on your interests. (Use the worksheet on page 7 as a starting point.)
- Get involved at your school and in your community. Most colleges will look at your participation in extracurricular activities when considering your college application.
- Stay engaged in your classes and get extra help from your teacher, counselor, or others if you need it.

In the Spring

- Start thinking about your class schedule for next year.
- Meet with your school counselor and talk about your college path. Be sure to bring a list of questions about college. Here are some suggestions:
 - What classes do I need to take to graduate? What classes should I take to be ready for college?
 - What elective classes should I take?
 - Would you recommend that I take any AP or honors courses?
 - How should I study for the SAT or the ACT? Does the school offer any help?

- Can you help me develop a list of colleges to research based on my interests and the type of college I want to attend? (Use the worksheet on page 7 as a starting point.)
- Do you have information about college fairs that I should attend?
- Think about your summer plans and consider including an internship, job, volunteer position or summer academic program.

IF YOU'RE A JUNIOR

In the Fall

- Talk to your school counselor about whether you should take any standardized tests. Some colleges and universities have "test-optional" policies and don't require students to submit their SAT/ACT scores. Other colleges require them.
- Attend college fairs and talk with college representatives. Ask them about campus life, application requirements, and financial aid.

In fall 2018, registration deadlines and test dates for the SAT, ACT, and SAT Subject Tests are:

- Oct. 6: SAT and SAT Subject Tests (register by Sept. 7)
- Nov. 3: SAT and SAT Subject Tests (register by Oct. 5)
- Dec. 1: SAT and SAT Subject Tests (register by Nov. 2)
- Dec. 8: ACT exam (register by Nov. 2)

In the Spring

Dates for the SAT, ACT, and SAT Subject Tests in spring of 2019 are:

- Mar. 9: SAT only (register by Feb. 8)
- Apr. 13: ACT exam (register by March 8)
- May 4: SAT and SAT Subject Tests (register by April 5)
- June 1: SAT and SAT Subject Tests (register by May 3)
- Meet with your school counselor to ensure that you're still on track to graduate and are taking the right courses to prepare for college. If you have gaps to fill in, now is the time to review your course selections for senior year.
- Explore career paths and subjects you might want to study in college. Attend a career fair or shadow a professional in a field you're interested in, to learn more about their work and the path they took to get there.

- Work with your school counselor, college advisor, parent, or guardian to develop a list of eight to ten colleges that interest you. Use the worksheet on page 7 as a starting point. Research the colleges on your list, keeping track of your questions and things that you like about each college.
- Obtain an FSA ID needed to complete your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Your parent or guardian will need an FSA ID as well.
- Research scholarships from outside sources like local businesses, organizations, employers, unions, churches, etc. Be sure to note application deadline dates.
- Plan and schedule summer visits to the colleges on your list.
- Stay involved in extracurricular activities; consider a summer job, internship, or volunteer position.

IF YOU'RE A SENIOR

Roberts Wesleyan College/Brittany Catlin

In the Fall and Winter

- Stay on track to graduate make sure to stay focused, and ask for help if you need it.
- Take the SAT, ACT or SAT Subject Tests if necessary — see registration deadlines and test dates under the "If You're a Junior" section.
- Schedule visits to colleges that interest you.
 Narrow down your list to about five colleges that you plan to apply to.
- On your list of colleges, write down each college's application deadlines, requirements, and fees. Staying organized is key.
- Ask teachers, counselors, and mentors for letters of recommendation for your college applications. Pay attention to how many recommendations you need, guidelines about who should write them, and the required format.
- · Attend financial aid workshops.
- Begin to gather materials you'll need to complete the FAFSA, which is critical to securing financial aid. You can fill out the FAFSA as early as Oct. 1. Most colleges recommend you complete it as soon as possible to maximize the amount of aid you receive. NYS students should include a college or university in the state on your list of colleges so you can begin to file the state's Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) application at the end of the FAFSA.

- Stay committed to your extracurricular activities.
- Work on your college applications and on your financial aid applications. Be sure to keep track of all requirements and deadlines.
- Complete your applications carefully, including the essay if required. Pay attention to details, proofread everything, and be sure to submit them on time.
- Some colleges require a mid-year grade report — work with your school counselor to send that information to the colleges.
- Look for your college acceptance notices and pay attention to important paperwork and deposit deadlines.

In the Spring

- Plan for your summer job or internship.
- If you're taking Advanced Placement (AP) courses, the spring 2019 AP exams will be held May 6–17.
- Stay focused most college acceptances are contingent on students maintaining good standing in their senior year.
- Review the financial aid packages you receive from colleges and calculate your net costs.
 If you have questions, contact the colleges' financial aid offices.
- If possible, make any last college visits before you make a final decision.
- Decision time: Choose the college you will attend, sign a letter of intent, accept or refuse financial aid, and send in the required deposits by May 1.
- Follow up on your grants, scholarships, loans, and any other aid you received.
- Celebrate! Don't forget to send a thank-you note or email to everyone who helped you through your college search.
